Nate Barry Honored with Town Award

The Town of Lewisville has presented the “I’m One of the Reasons Lewisville is a Great Place to Live” award to an inspirational young man who is making an impact in the fight against cancer. Nate Barry, a Jiu-Jitsu and Muay Thai fighter from Shallowford Lakes, has been practicing martial arts for four years. He also knows cancer’s impact, as he unfortunately lost two grandparents and a cousin to cancer.

Nate spent his 2023 summer fundraising for Tap Cancer Out, which is a Jiu-Jitsu tournament that raises money for cancer research. This summer, he’s raised more than $16,000. He earned the achievement of Top Youth Fundraiser in the Jiu-Jitsu tournament.

Congratulations Nate!

Welcome Savannah Younts

Savannah Younts

The Town of Lewisville is pleased to announce that Savannah Younts has joined the town in the role of Maintenance Worker. In her new position, Ms. Younts will work closely with Maintenance Technician Hal Bodenhamer to ensure Lewisville’s beautiful parks and the Mary Alice Warren Community Center are kept clean and running smoothly. When asked what she’s most excited about in this job, she described her enthusiasm for “working with the community.”

Ms. Younts grew up in Lexington, North Carolina, and worked there in the textile industry for six years before joining the Town of Lewisville. At her previous job, she was a maintenance technician. In her free time, she enjoys fishing and taking her Jeep 4-wheeling, which she mechanically maintains by herself. She also enjoys graphic design and creating print products. We’re excited for Savannah to be part of Lewisville and look forward to working with her.

From Your Mayor A Place to Remember

Mike Horn

As most of you know, I grew up in the Florida Keys in the '60s. Back then it was an island paradise. There were very few people on our island, and everyone knew everyone. The lobster and stone crab were plentiful, and the fishing was the best in the world. Hence the reputation of Islamorada as the fishing capital of the world.

As kids, we didn't have video games or other digital distractions. We had the amazing outdoors. After breakfast in the morning, our moms would kick us (not literally) out of the house to explore. Almost all of us had a small boat, one kind or another, in which we would trek from one uninhabited island to the next, hoping to find buried treasure or signs of UFOs. We had great imaginations.

We roamed through the dense mangroves with machetes in hand, building forts with wood that had drifted ashore. When lunchtime came, wherever we were at that time, we descended to the closest friend's house whose parents gladly fed us.

Each day was an adventure. And while most of our families didn't have a lot of money, our lives were rich with the things that mattered. Things like friendships built through extraordinary experiences, a caring for our community and our neighbors, and respect for our differences. It was a magical place.

But like with most magical places, many others wanted to come to our island paradise to share the experience, build their lives, and raise their families. Who could blame them?

When I left the island for college in 1971, I knew that my island home was going to change and never again be the place that, in my mind, was the best place on earth.

I know that so many of you who have grown up over the years in our little community of Lewisville have experienced the same kind of change. Farmland cleared for development, more traffic on our roads, and a lot of new faces that we've warmly welcomed.

Life moves on, and as much as we all would like our community to stay the way it was and is, things change. All we can do is try to do our best to manage that change. That's why we have aggressive planning and zoning, our amazing comprehensive plan, and councils that have had the political will to make the best decision for our residents.

Remembering my own little island, I wish our community leaders had at least attempted to manage growth back then. They didn't, and today it barely resembles the place of my youth.

So, this holiday season let's remember the places of our past, the special times we shared growing up, the many friendships we've made over the years, and, of course, how fortunate we are to live in our little town.

My best wishes to you and your family as we celebrate the holiday season.

As always, I welcome your comments.

HOME Rehabilitation Program

The cost of home improvement and maintenance often presents a significant barrier to homeowners, especially those with fixed or moderate incomes. The Forsyth County Housing Rehabilitation Program seeks to use State and Federal funding to provide a variety of housing repairs for qualifying Forsyth County homeowners to ensure they have safe, stable, and suitable housing. These repairs can include roof repair and replacement, lead paint and asbestos remediation, septic system replacement, well replacement, HVAC repair and replacement, plumbing and electrical upgrades, accessibility modifications, and other general improvements.

To be eligible for HOME, you must be a homeowner and full-time resident of Forsyth County, current on your mortgage payments and property taxes, with a low-to-moderate income. If you meet these requirements and the house you own and live in needs serious repairs, you may qualify for Forsyth County's Housing Rehabilitation Program. Safe housing should be attainable for all, regardless of their income level.

Call 336-703-2684 or email forsythced@forsyth.cc to learn more and complete an application with Community and Economic Development.

Environmental Conservation & Sustainability Committee (ECSC)

Thanks to all who helped with the recent Clean Sweep! The Beautification Committee has organized this for many years, and the ECSC was happy to join in. Keeping our roadways clear of trash makes Lewisville a better place to live.

Thanks also for your support of our bi-annual Special Recycling event. Or as we like to call it – Weird Recycling – which means items that are NOT accepted in your curbside bin. Keep up the good work on recycling, and you can check the recycling poster you received in the April newsletter for pictures of juice pouches, toothbrushes, Yankee candles, and other items that are accepted for Special Recycling. Don't have a poster? Go to: www.lewisvillenc.net/special-recycling-events.

Fall leads into the busiest time of year as we prepare for holidays from Halloween to New Year's Eve. Please keep our planet in mind as you buy and wrap gifts and entertain friends. Reduce buying single-use items. Reuse before you recycle. Some of those Amazon bags and boxes can be used to mail other packages. Break down what you can't reuse to bring to the Town's Holiday Cardboard Recycling in the Lewisville Elementary School parking lot from December 21, 2023, to January 2, 2024. Only cardboard and chipboard (gift boxes) are accepted.

Thanks, and enjoy the season!

Christmas Tree Pickup – January 8, 2024

Leaf Debris REMINDER:

Please do not pile leaves in the street or in the ditches. We must keep stormwater drainage clean and flowing at all times, which maintains the runoff system and saves taxpayer funds.

From the Desk of JON HANNA – PUBLIC WORKS

Can’t Spell WATER without “WE”

It may seem peculiar to publish a stormwater column here as we head into winter, but it’s actually a very timely subject. This time of year, there are several common practices that lead to stream pollution or drainage malfunctions, but together we can keep our water clean and flowing.

Stormwater is important because we’re working with a shared resource. The “we” in water suggests a public interest and a common responsibility. Water running down any town storm drain makes its way through our local creeks and into the Yadkin River. That river supplies drinking water to nearly a million Carolinians. We all expect our state’s waters to be drinkable, fishable, and swimmable and it is far more economical to keep water clean than it is to purify contaminated water.

It seems counterintuitive, but what’s good for our grass is not good for our water. Nutrients from fertilizers wreak havoc in our Yadkin River basin from Bashavia Creek to Winyah Bay and represent some of the most problematic, yet preventable, water quality issues we face. The same can be said for pet waste, which contaminates drinking water and swimming holes alike. Cleaning up after our dogs doesn’t seem like a big deal, but it’s a simple way to have a big impact.

As the leaves come down, we also have to remember we need to keep them clear of ditches and drains. Our stormwater conveyances act just like gutters on a house. We have to keep them clean and functioning properly or all kinds of bad things can happen. We must all take part in keeping Lewisville’s waters clean and flowing.

UDO Update Project

By Stacy Tolbert, Assistant Town Manager/Planning Director

Dating all the way back to September 7, 1995, the Town of Lewisville adopted its first United Development Ordinance (UDO). The UDO is a book of ordinances that is made up of laws that govern land use including residential and non-residential zoning regulations, environmental regulations, and subdivision regulations. Since that September date in 1995, the UDO has undergone many changes, shaping language to become a customized book of development rules specific to the Town of Lewisville.

Fast forward to April 14, 2022, the Lewisville Town Council adopted the Lewisville Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan. This plan establishes a foundation for the future as it was built upon previous efforts, including the Town’s previously adopted comprehensive plans. Lewisville Tomorrow helps inform decisions, allowing Lewisville to continue embracing its small-town character.

Now it is time to package the hard work of all those who have had an impact on the Town. The Town has teamed up with Kimley-Horn and Associates, Inc. to modernize the UDO. Our goal is to better integrate the UDO into a more streamlined document that is concise, user-friendly, compliant with general statutes, consistent with best practices and provides the town an opportunity to improve existing procedures.

The process is just beginning and public input opportunities are on the horizon. The project is scheduled to conclude in mid-2024. We encourage you to stay tuned to the process. Keep an eye on our Town’s website and future Lewisville Citizen articles for important updates and opportunities for you to play a part in the process.
